RAZORS MOST CAREFULLY RE-SET.

Mr. Moore begs to recommend his GOGO SHAMPOO WASH.

to the public as unrivalled by any preparation ever produced for promoting the growth of the hair. The basis of this compound is made of soap root, the natives of the Philippine Islands, never use anything else for washing their hair; they are never found bald, and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By constantly using this "Shampoo" Wash as directed, you will NEVER BE BALD.

The proprietor offers the Wash to the public entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will without fail arrest decaying hair; it completely eradicates scurf, dandruff, and cures all diseases of the scalp. It does not contain any poisonous drugs. By its cooling properties it allays the itching and fever of the scalp, which is the great cause of people losing their hair.

Mr. Moore has succeeded in being able to put this wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate.

The Hongkong Telegraph

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1882.

We learn on reliable authority that the appeal to the Lords in Council in the cause d'Alibi, Graca v. Pitman has been abandoned. It is currently believed in Macao that this step has been taken in pursuance of instructions received from Lisbon. We happen to know that Governor Graca's action in bringing the matter into the Law Courts in the first instance has been severely censured, as being unbecomingly and indiscreet. There appears to exist fairly good grounds for the belief that, if the glaring immoralities connected with Fan-tan and Vey Sing, which have made Macao so notorious, had been subjected to the fierce light of public criticism in England, as inevitably would have been the case had the Graca v. Pitman scandal been re-opened before the higher tribunals, the days of Macao's degrading political existence would quickly have been numbered with the things of the past. The existence of Macao on revenues derived from immorality, and pandering to the vices of the very worst classes, is a plague spot on the modern history of the Far East. As the infamous opium traffic fell before a crusade initiated by the loud voice of public opinion, so will Fan-tan and Vey Sing have to be discontinued and abandoned as soon as any great scandal in connection with these degrading sources of public revenue, gives the Exeter Hall ellipse anything like fair grounds for using their undoubted influence, to have Portugal quietly but firmly informed that the existence of the "modern Gomorrah" in its present state of naked vice, is subversive of every known principle of modern Christianity, and public morality, and as Macao is so close to the British Colony of Hongkong, and the Chinese empire, its political position must be renewed, under different auspices. That this result is inevitable must be apparent to every student of the present state of political feeling throughout Europe. Portugal doubtless believes that she is discreet in trying to postpone what she would consider a national calamity as long as possible, and therefore will not sanction any proceedings likely to bring Macao, and its hideous and shameful degradations, prominently before the world. Public opinion is erroneously assumed to be Macao's most dangerous enemy; time will prove that its influence is the "gem of the orient sea's" only hope of future prosperity.

It is but fair to the law officers of the Macao Government to state that the impolitic action against Mr. Pitman was instituted by Governor Graca contrary to the advice of his legal advisers. Truly enough, that worthy ornament of the Hongkong bar, Thomas C. HAYLLAR, Esq. Q.C. advised his Excellency that he was certain to win the case, and the Governor—with so many startling examples in front of him—could not resist the voice of the charmer. Like the great Caesar the seductive HAYLLAR came, saw, and conquered. And the result, so far as Macao and its Governor are concerned, has been shameful publicity, public degradation, and $7,000 costs. And starvation is still rampant in the Colony.

TELEGRAMS.

Reuter wires on May 9th, "No trace of the assassins of Lord F. Cavendish and Mr. Burke has been found." This settles any doubt which may have existed as to the identity of the Chief Secretary for Ireland so foully assassinated the other day in the Phoenix Park, Dublin.

In the Commons the Premier moved the adjournment of the House as a mark of respect to the deceased, and promised to introduce a motion for repressive measures on Thursday, the necessity for which was recognised by Parnell.

PETER ALPHONSE VESTAPPE, of Belgium, described as following the rather novel non-occupation of an unemployed Policeman, was summoned to the Police Court this morning by Tse Aman, a servant, for assaulting him. The complainant said he was a servant at a European hotel, No. 7, Graham Street, of which the defendant was master. On the 8th instant defendant lost a small dog, which the boy failed to find. Defendant gripped him by the neck and nearly squeezed all the remaining breath in his interior out of him. The defendant was discharged for want of evidence, which we suppose to mean want of corroborative testimony.

LIU KUM, a servant boy, went yesterday to change a five dollar note for his master, being ordered to get $4 in notes and one in silver. Scarcely had he received the notes from the money changer, when an enterprising hawk bore down, and with a suddenness which quite astounded the boy, snatched the notes from his hand and ran off with them. The boy called out "Thief!" and made tracks as hard as he could after the hawk, who was brought to a standstill by another man and given in charge. The prisoner, who said the boy dropped the notes and he simply picked them up, a very likely story indeed, was sent to six months' hard labour by Captain Thomsen.

The public will be glad to learn that in spite of obstacles thrown needlessly in the way, Chiarini's world-renowned circus and menagerie will open in Hongkong for a short season on or about the 18th inst. The Cricket Ground not being available, the circus will be erected at Bowington, East Point, where every possible accommodation for the comfort and convenience of visitors will be carefully arranged. Chiarini's circus is unique in the number and character of its attractions. The legitimate circus performers, equestriennes, clowns, acrobats, gymnasts, etc., etc., present a varied array of talent, probably unequalled in any part of the world; and with a celebrated stud of trained horses, a capital band, and a rare and costly collection of wild animals, besides other attractions far too numerous to be mentioned in detail, Chiarini's entertainments should prove red-letter days in the history of the colony. That Chiarini's enterprise deserves success cannot be doubted; that it will receive extensive patronage in Hongkong we feel perfectly confident.

The case in which Mok Achung, comrade to the China Traders' Insurance Company was charged with embezzling various sums of money, the property of the Company, came on again this afternoon before Mr. Wodehouse. Mr. Johnson, who appeared on behalf of the prosecution, said his Worship would remember that when the case was on on Saturday, it was stated the defendant had been arrested on suspicion. Since then the accounts had been investigated, and Mr. Ray, the Secretary of the Company, had instructed him to say that, although they were not in such order as they should have been, yet the results were satisfactory, and he wished to withdraw the charge. Mr. Wodehouse asked why the man was arrested, and upon Mr. Johnson replying that he was arrested on suspicion, Mr. Wodehouse said he would adjourn the case again, allowing the man out upon his own recognizance, as he would like to know more about the matter, it being only fair since the defendant had been three days in prison. His Worship said he would like to see Mr. Ray, who was not present in Court, and for whom Mr. Johnson then sent. Our early hour of going to press, did not permit our reporter to wait for Mr. Ray's appearance.

Our evening contemporary, in noticing the performance of Donizetti's opera "Poliuto," by the Italian Opera Company, imparts the startling information that "the celebrated tenor Nourrit, desirous of regaining the position he was under the impression he had lost with a musical-loving (sic) public, got the grand (sic) Maestro to compose the music to the subject of "Polyeucte," one of Racine's grand plays." Two grammatical blunders, and a grossly erroneous statement in one short sentence are rather too much to be passed over in silence, the more especially as the mis-statement might induce those who may not happen to know better to believe that our remarks on "Poliuto" in yesterday's Telegraph were incorrect. Jean Racine, the most admired of all the French dramatists, no doubt was the author of "Athalie," "Phedre," "Esther," "Mithridate" and other splendid works; but he most certainly never wrote "Polyeucte." Racine was born on December 21st, 1639, and died on September 21st, 1699. He was a Frenchman, and his name was not Pierre Corneille, the creator of French tragedy, in 1640. The operatic critic of the China Mail will probably hide his diminished head after this exposure.

The steamship Doughty will dock at Sam-shui-po to-morrow morning, making room for the steamers Falken and Seringon.

BRIGADE Surgeon Hungerford, M.B., Army Medical Department, having completed his tour of service on this station, proceeds to England by the outgoing mail steamer. Dr. Hungerford received his first commission as Assistant Surgeon on the 26th May 1854, being appointed Surgeon on the 22nd September 1865, Surgeon Major on the 1st March 1873, and Brigade Surgeon on the 27th November, 1879. He has seen some war service, being in possession of the Crimean, Turkish, and another war medal. Surgeon A. P. Hart, M.B., of the same Department, expected by incoming mail, comes to fill up the vacancy in the Medical Staff thus created.

ONE of the coolies employed by Messrs. E. D. Sassoon & Co. in conveying cases of opium to the godown on Peldar's Hill, met with a rather ugly accident at 9.40 this morning, by tumbling off the wall between the godown and the German Club, into the area below. The coolie was sitting on the wall, the top of which is in a bad state of repair, when, some of the loose and broken brickwork giving way, he was precipitated down the area backwards, falling upon his side, a height of about eight feet, which caused blood to flow from his ear. The man was taken to his home by his friends, and although, it is thought, not very seriously injured, will not be able to resume his occupation for some time.

We observe from our contemporary, the Mercury, that a sensational match was arranged to take place on the "off-day" of the Shanghai Races. The conditions were as follows:—Mr. Kremor's Rialto ridden by Mr. Reynell, against Mr. Monster's Sanheril with Mr. Bidwell up. Mr. Kremor staking $2,000 to $500, weight for inches, distance a mile and a half. On public form it would appear that the odds should have been the other way, and with the advantage of Mr. Bidwell's brilliant horsemanship the victory of the piebald appears extremely probable. Supposing the owner of Rialto got "funky" or his pony fell lame, and he declined to run, we wonder what the Shanghai sports would say if he refused to ante up the stakes until he consulted a London newspaper to see whether any loophole could be found by which he could escape from his liability! This is a most remote contingency among gentlemen, and sportsmen, especially where a properly constituted Race Club exists to decide such matters; however, we had an instance of this kind at our recent meeting in the Shell v. Hunahlan match. Fortunately such instances—and such sportsmen—are rare, even in Hongkong.

THIS being the 23rd of the Chinese moon, upon which the Taoist fete of Tien Hou, the Queen of Heaven, Holy Mother and Goddess of Sailors, is celebrated, numerous gorgeous processions in the style peculiar to the genus Celestial, were to be seen wending their way during the day to the Tien Hou Temple, near Whitefield Police Station, where the Goddess was treated to profuse "Chinchins" by her devoted worshippers. Tien Hou being in a special manner the Goddess of Sailors, the boating population hold high festival to-day. The processional paraphernalia was well garnished with roast pigs, which, although presenting a tempting appearance—at a distance—we would much rather Tien Hou's followers ate than ourselves, as we do not think they would agree with our feeble digestive powers. The music which led the processions reminded us forcibly of an old Irish bag-piper, whom we remember in days of yore, who could never succeed in squeezing more than one feeble, highly unmusical tune out of the dilapidated bags. Whenever asked to vary the monotony a little by playing something else, he always represented that the reed was broken. Had our Irish friend come to China, we think he would have at once received an appointment as procession musical leader-in-chief.

THE prisoner who was charged yesterday as being the man who the owner saw walking off with his box containing property and $200 from the lower deck of the steamer Garstang, was sent this morning to six months' hard labour, and was further ordered to find security in two sureties of $50 each, to be of good behaviour for 12 months, in default to be committed. The box was not found, the prisoner having, it was supposed, passed it on to a "pal." The prisoner tried hard to wriggle out of the charge, and said he merely went on board the steamer to see his brother, and that he was a new comer to the Colony, but the evidence of Chinese Police Constable Pang Alo cooked his goose. This zealous public officer said he had known the prisoner since the beginning of last year, that he had been living in Third Street all that time, and that he belonged to a gang that went about to different steamers annexing anything they could lay their hands on. Until the present the prisoner had been a good boy, and had a rare run of good luck, never having been in gaol before.

In a case in which two Russian seamen, of the corvette Africa, we believe, who are in the Civil Hospital suffering from contused wounds of the scalp, are charged with disorderly conduct, drunkenness, and attempting to assault the constable with a knife, Police Constable Herbert Servant stated this morning at the Police Court, that at 7.45 p.m. yesterday he was on duty at the Government Wharf, when the two men in hospital came in a ricksha, they being drunk, and refused to pay the coolies the fare. He remonstrated with them, and told them to pay or he should have to arrest them. They seized hold of him and dragged him about the wharf. When he got away from them, they each pulled out a pocket knife and threatened to stab him. He got assistance, and at the end of the Pier arrested the men for disorderly conduct, an officer having appeared who paid their ricksha fare. He was taking the men to the charge room, but when they reached Peddar's Wharf they refused to go any further. He obtained the assistance of a third Constable. When they got into Queen's Road they met five or six other Russian sailors, who tried to rescue the prisoners; he drew their knives again, and his own defence, he knocked one man down with his baton. Police Constable 14 performed a similar ceremony on the other, and after a great deal of trouble they managed to lodge both in the station, from which they were sent to hospital. The case was remanded till the 14th instant.

MAJOR CARREW, Assistant Military Secretary, accompanies His Excellency, Major-General Sargent, C.B., on his tour of inspection in the Straits Settlements, upon which the General proceeds by the Gwalior.

We are asked to state that a gunner of the Royal Artillery here is open to walk, fair heel and toe, any man in the Garrison from an hour to three hours, for from $50 upwards. The competitor covering the greatest distance within the time decided upon, to be the winner.

THE Ocean Steamship Company's steamer Orestes which left here on the afternoon of Saturday the 22nd ultimo reached Singapore on the following Thursday evening, having made the passage in the unusually fast time, for one of these vessels, of five days and four hours.

THE charge preferred by Acting Inspector Staunton against a Chinaman named Kwok Akai of falsely accusing a boy named Yau Po of having committed a rape, for the purpose of extorting money, on the 28th instant, was withdrawn this morning and the defendant discharged. This is the case which originated in the woman's accusing the nephew of a Chinese school teacher in D'Aguiar Street of having committed an outrage upon her grand-daughter and demanding hush money. The Hon. Ng Chey was engaged for the defence.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the Amoy Gazette:—"Now that there is every appearance of the Raquet Court Club increasing in numbers, might not something be done to enable those wishing to enroll themselves as members to do so. A meeting ought to be called, to enquire into the state of the affairs of the Club, and show how the finances are at present. We are all confident of there being a handsome sum standing at the credit of the Club, as there are no expenses to speak of, and the profits on balls and bats are known to be large."

THE well-known sculptor, Mr. G. Woolner, R.A., is engaged on a bust of the Premier (for which Greece has promptly supplied the marble) intended, we believe, for the Guildhall. The following lines from the pen of a rabid Tory are suggested by the above:—

"When Woolner's hand in classic mood
Carving the Premier's past life,
Hellas to show her gratitude
Sends us the marble grudge,
Oh, would the gift were stone for stone
Repay the gift's entirety,
And for that marble send her own
Giant's foot to Hellas' eddy."

WE would specially direct the attention of the public to the performance to be given in the Theatre Royal, City Hall, this evening by the Italian Opera Company. The occasion is noteworthy, being for the benefit of Signora Maria Lubici, prima donna assoluta, and the last performance of the present season. Signora Lubici has displayed sound discretion in selecting for representation the attractive opera of "Saffo," in which she gained her highest honors, achieving one of the most conspicuous successes of the whole series of operatic representations, and we trust that she will receive the hearty support of the entire community. Puccini's music in "Saffo" is quite equal to the best efforts of the most celebrated maestros.

NAVAL COURT.

At a Naval Court held this twenty-ninth day of April, 1882, at Her Britannic Majesty's Consulate at Amoy, to enquire:—

Firstly.—As to the circumstances which led to the stranding of the British barque Garstang of Melbourne, official No. 56,696 near Haitan Island on the 21st April, 1882.

Secondly.—As to the subsequent desertion of the said ship Garstang by her Master, Officers and Crew.

Present.—Robert James Forrest, Esq., Her Britannic Majesty's Consul at Amoy, and President.

James Currie Elles, Esq., Merchant.
Mr. Thomas Shaw, Master of the British Steamship Althow.
Mr. Lionel W. Henley, Assistant at Her Britannic Majesty's Consulate at Amoy, Clerk of the Court.

The Official Log of the Garstang and the Certificates of the Master and Mate having been laid at the time of the wreck could not be delivered up into the custody of the Court.

PROCEEDINGS.

The Court assembled at 11 a.m., 29th of April, 1882, at Her Britannic Majesty's Consulate, Amoy.

The letter requesting that the Court might be held and the order directing it to be held having been read:—

Mr. Edward Yarnall, Master of the barque Garstang called for, took the usual oath and deposed:—"My certificate was lost with the ship, it was No. 217 Sydney. I passed the North end of Formosa on the 19th of this month. After that we had heavy fog and light variable winds until the morning of the 21st instant, then a light breeze from N.E. sprang up. I steered W.S.W. to eight Turnabout Island. At noon I gave the course S.W. by W., one Malay seaman was at the wheel and one on the look-out, there being a heavy fog all the time. I steered the same course till 7 p.m. moving at the rate of from 2 to 3 knots, hardly ever faster. At 7 p.m. my position by dead reckoning was Turnabout light bearing W.N.W. 16 miles. I think that brought me about six miles within the range of the light. I then gave the course S.W. O.W. the fog was still heavy. At 10 p.m. the look-out reported land ahead, the helm was put hard a starboard but the ship went broadside on to the breakers. A Malay called Tom was on the look-out. After striking I backed the yards, but the ship lay some time and then slipped right off the wind having sprung up shortly after the ship struck. When the ship came off I filled on the sails and sent the second officer forward to look out. The wind was then about N.E. As soon as the mate got forward, he sang out 'Breakers on starboard bow,' the helm was put down immediately, but the ship would not answer and drifted broadside on to the breakers, where she remained fast; the tide was falling and left her on the top of the rocks. During the night she cracked and broke as the tide left her; the decks opened out and the poop started. She was bumping heavily until the tide left her. In the morning the natives came and stripped the ship of everything. My crew consisted of six Malays, cook (Chinese) and boy, with mate and boatswain. My wife was also on board at the time. There were upwards of 200 natives on board shortly after break of day. I can't say that they were armed. They took no notice of us, but simply stole all they could get. They cut all the sails from the yards, went into the cabin and took everything from thence. They also took away the ship's boat. They used no violence, but we offered no resistance, as I am sure they would have turned on us, and resistance would have been useless, there only being 3 Europeans. They stripped the mate's clothes from off his back. This was done subsequently in the junk. They took all my wife's clothes and effects away, and tried to steal the earrings from her ears. They completely stripped the ship. The ship's papers, log, chronometer and charts were on the cabin table; these they took away in the cloth. They put the things into their junks, of which there were 50 or 60 round about. As our boat was gone and the rocks were awash at high tide I took my wife, officers and crew and got into one of the junks, leaving the people on board to take us where they would. They wanted us to leave but we would not. Afterwards they took us to a village on some island, and after a lot of trouble, they took us away again in the afternoon, saying that they would take us to Foochow. We left the ship about 6 o'clock in the morning. It took less than an hour to reach the island. At twelve or one o'clock in the night the water was up to the forecastle deck. The ship cracked tremendously at the water level, and I was afraid she would break up; the rocks around were awash and we had no boat and no provisions; I was afraid to resist the natives, lest they should use violence. They took us from the village about noon, and sailed all that afternoon and night until about twelve o'clock. In the morning at daylight the junk was high and dry, apparently in a creek, and the people on board the junk told us we must walk overland to Foochow. We walked for about twelve hours, but at night they put us into another junk, and in the morning we were at Foochow. They did not molest us in the junk except stripping the mate's coat from him. They gave us something to eat. In the morning I went to the Consul and reported everything. That would be last Monday. The Consul sent us to Pagoda Anchorage, and from Pagoda Anchorage we were sent to Amoy. The second junk seemed like a passenger junk, but the men who came with us were detained by the Consul at Pagoda Anchorage. One of the men was about the first to board my ship, and he has many things belonging to the ship in his possession. I know the man and can recognize him again.

By the Court.—When off Turnabout I kept my lead going on account of the fog. My officers cast the lead and reported the soundings to me. I have been a Master Mariner since 1871. I never had a vessel touch the ground before. I was in a ship when she lost her ladder. I have traded four voyages to this coast, but never approached Amoy from the North end of Formosa. I visited Foochow at 2 o'clock. My certificates (3) were placed in the Register.

By Captain Shaw.—I had Imray's charts, marked China Coast; one chart includes the Coast from Shanghai to Canton. From the 19th it only cleared up once, for about half an hour. I was sounding with a 35 fathom line and 9th lead. I commenced sounding on the afternoon of the 20th and found bottom from 25 to 30 fathoms. I picked the ship's course off on the chart every four hours. The soundings were 25 fathoms at 2 o'clock when I started the course. I verified my position off Turnabout by the soundings, which nearly corresponded. The ship could not have run more than 10 to 12 miles after that on the S.W. O.W. course before striking. She struck at 10 p.m. I can hardly tell the exact spot, as at break of day the charts were stolen before I could determine the position. I fancy, by the look of the place, it must have been in Kwing Bay, North of Haitan. I did not sight Turnabout till 1 p.m. we must have gone up to Foochow past Pagoda, but we were battered down in the junk to keep us off the deck. It was a sort of passenger junk. We were all down below together. After the ship came off the first time I should have anchored, but before the yards were round and the sails full we were on the other reef. There could only have been an interval of from three to five minutes before she struck again. I suppose that there must have been a rise and fall in the tide of 15 to 17 feet. I had Pindley and Green Director and Notes and Queries of the Rocks and Shoals in the Cabin. I tried to make Turnabout light in order to shape my course by it. I noticed that the tides were tremendously strong where the ship struck.

Alfred James, 1st Mate of the barque Garstang, called for, took the usual oath and deposed:—"My certificate was taken from me by the natives who looted the ship. It was in the pocket of my overcoat, which was taken off my back in the junk. I had a Melbourne Master's Certificate No. 8, and also a Western Australia Master's Certificate. I cannot swear to the number of this letter but I think it was No. 256. I remember passing the N. end of Formosa on the morning of the 19th instant. The weather was very thick and the winds light and variable. One of the Malays was on the look-out all day. My duties are general in charge of the watch. After passing the N. end of Formosa we made for Turnabout Island, our course being W.S.W. until noon of the 21st, then shifted to S.W. by W. We did not get any observation that day; the weather continued thick. We started that course until 7 a.m. on the 21st, and then shifted to S.W. O.W. We commenced sounding on the afternoon of the 20th; I was sounding myself, using a 35 fathom line with about 9th lead. I was sounding during the night about every quarter of an hour and reported the results to the captain. We sounded all day of 21st, weather still very thick. We had no sounding under 24 fathoms. The ship struck at 10 o'clock. Can't say what first striking, and in about five minutes we must have struck again, before she had time to get way on her. I was aft when she struck, but in an alley-way so that I could not hear what the Captain said. There was no time to let go the anchor. We stopped by the ship all night. It was too thick to see if there was any land near us. The ship was full of water at high tide. The ship was about 9 or 10 years old—I should say. At daylight junks came from all sides. We did not get any observation that day; the weather continued thick. We started that course until 7 a.m. on the 21st, and then shifted to S.W. O.W. We commenced sounding on the afternoon of the 20th; I was sounding myself, using a 35 fathom line with about 9th lead. I was aft when she struck, but in an alley-way so that I could not hear what the Captain said. There was no time to let go the anchor. We stopped by the ship all night. It was too thick to see if there was any land near us. The ship was full of water at high tide. The ship was about 9 or 10 years old—I should say. At daylight junks came from all sides. We did not get any observation that day; the weather continued thick. We started that course until 7 a.m. on the 21st, and then shifted to S.W. O.W. We commenced sounding on the afternoon of the 20th; I was sounding myself, using a 35 fathom line with about 9th lead. I was sounding during the night about every quarter of an hour and reported the results to the captain. We sounded all day of 21st, weather still very thick. We had no sounding under 24 fathoms. The ship struck at 10 o'clock. Can't say what first striking, and in about five minutes we must have struck again, before she had time to get way on her. I was aft when she struck, but in an alley-way so that I could not hear what the Captain said. There was no time to let go the anchor. We stopped by the ship all night. Chinese Court Circular.—Winter clothes will from to-day, May 4th, be exchanged for the lighter Summer garments.

We notice that numerous pigs have lately been prowling about the roads on the island of Kuan-ko, rooting them up extensively, destroying the newly-planted trees, boundary walls and actually undermining the graves and monuments in the Foreign Cemetery. We hope that the Road Committee will take measures to prevent the pigs from destroying the roads entirely.

The Rev. G. Burno after a long residence at this port, left here for Hongkong on May 1st in the steamer Avon to assume the management of the Spanish Protestant Church. During the many years he has been associated with us, he was held in very high estimation for his zeal, fidelity and patience in teaching the Christian doctrine.

The French frigate La Victorieuse, Captain de la Batte, with H. E. Admiral Meyer on board, and the French gun-boat Lutin, Commander Rouvier, left this morning, the 3rd inst., for Shanghai.

At the British Consular Court on May 2nd, Francis G. Nelson, Boatwain of the British brig Argos, was brought before the Consul at the instance of the Master charged that on the night of the 1st of May, the said Francis G. Nelson, whilst partially drunk, did strike and want to fight with the sailors, attempt to strike the Master with a knife, and generally with behaving in a violent, disorderly and dangerous manner. After hearing the evidence of the Master and one of the sailors in support of the Master's statement, the Consul sentenced the accused to six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.—Gazette.

SHANGHAI.

We hear that the British Naval Yard property was sold by private bargain on Saturday, for £55,000, the purchaser being Mr. S. Daly. It is rather a remarkable coincidence that on Saturday we had a paragraph contradicting a report in a home paper, which said it had been sold in February last for £25,000.

Mr. Guy, the crew of the late brig Mary, arrived to-day, May 1st, from Chefoo. He was shipwrecked last year in that vessel at Quilper, off the Coast of Corea, the captain and wife were drowned, and 18 Chinese seamen. Mr. Guy, and 16 of the crew, remained in Corea for eight months and suffered great privations. At last they met with a Chefoo fishing boat, by which they all returned to Chefoo.

We are glad to be informed that an extensive monograph on the numerous typhoons of last year is in the press, the work is by the able pen of the Director of the Sincere Observatory, and it will be published in the English language, being particularly intended for the numerous navigators frequenting these seas, who no doubt will derive great benefit from it, most of them being familiar with the English language. We hope the steps taken by the Chamber of Commerce to secure an effective Meteorological Coast Service will soon be as successful as they deserve, in spite of temporary checks, which now and then may crop up. It must be borne in mind that obstructionists to such a useful undertaking incur an enormous responsibility.

We hear from trustworthy Chinese sources that advances have been received of a fresh outbreak of the Mohammedan rebellion in the north-west provinces of China. The former head of the Mohammedan outbreak which took so many years to suppress, Han Yeh-ho, has crossed the frontier into Shi with his bands. He was native of Shi-gan in Shi, and when first he embarked upon his rebellious career he killed his mother and family to save them from falling into the hands of the Imperialists. He was afterwards driven into Russian territory and was protected by the Russians. The Chinese insisted for a long time upon his rendition, but the Russians refused. Now he has broken into Chinese territory with his bands into the Tien Shan Pei-shan, eight miles west of Karashahr, and Liu Chin-chai, the Military Governor of Hami has sent three regiments of soldiers to check the rebels. It is further stated that there have been troubles between the Chinese and Russians respecting the territory. The Russian Governor insisted on being addressed by King of the Governor of the New Dominion, as Ping-tu-tchen, which creates a difficulty as the Chinese would thus place the Russian officials on equal terms. It is supposed that the Russians could have restrained the rebels if they had liked.

Another Chinese Newspaper, called the Hu Pao is to be started on the 1st of the next Chinese month by the Proprietors of the North China Herald Office, in which all the local and political intelligence contained in the North China Daily News will be published simultaneously for the benefit of the Chinese. It is hoped to very materially increase the value of the Daily News, and special attention will be paid to mercantile subjects, so that the Chinese may be placed on the best possible footing to compete with the subscribers and supporters of the Daily News. The support of the foreign community appears to be confidently calculated to second the efforts the proprietors are going to make for the good of China and that of all foreigners having a stake in the country. The proprietors of the Daily News expect to do something, we suppose, for their own good, that is often the object of starting a newspaper, but we don't see that they ask the foreigners who "have a stake in the country" to take shares. However, the value of the Daily News will be materially increased if all the Chinese characters are put in the Chinese edition, we have no doubt. And perhaps some good will be done to Chinese tea growers if the extracts from the Indian and Chinese tea are translated into the Hu Pao.

At an early hour this morning (May 1st) a horrible tragedy was perpetrated in Hongkong, the victim being a native caught in flagrant delicto by a Chinese man-of-war sailor, who avenged himself, by decapitating the intruder, and also by dangerously wounding his faithful wife. The sailor is a native of Ningpo, and was serving on board a Chinese man-of-war, while his wife lived at 330 Seward Road, Hongkong. The husband had long suspected that his wife was unfaithful, and last night it seems he told her that he was going to sea; but he returned to the house between two and three o'clock in the morning, and there found a man in bed with her. It is not yet known what weapon the enraged husband used, but he had evidently been armed and prepared for the attack. The intruder was the proprietor of a native eating house in Hongkong, and at an early hour, when the tragedy was discovered, he was found with his head cut clean off and lying a short distance from the body. The faithful wife had two deep gashes, one on each side of the neck, about four inches long; and three or four stabs on the breasts; some of the wounds being very dangerous. She was taken to the Hospital, and Dr. Henderson dressed her wounds, the operation taking about two hours. The husband has given him in charge of the Chinese authorities in the District Magistrate.—Mercury.

HAIR DRESSING SALOON HONGKONG HOTEL.

W. P. MOORE begs to inform the Gentlemen of Hongkong and Visitors that he has reduced the price of Hair-Cutting to 50 cents. Having now in his employ three competent Assistants who are always in attendance, he guarantees to execute this class of work, in all its branches, with a perfection which cannot be excelled in any part of the World.

Monthly Customers taken at reduced rates.
Razors most carefully re-set.

Mr. MOORE begs to recommend his GOGO SHAMPOO WASH to the public as unrivalled by any preparation ever produced for promoting the growth of the hair. The basis of this compound is made of soap root; the natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; they are never found bald, and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By constantly using this Shampoo Wash as directed, you will NEVER BE BALD.

The proprietor offers the Wash to the public entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will without fail arrest decaying hair. It completely eradicates scurf, dandruff, and cures all diseases of the scalp. It does not contain any poisonous drugs. By its cooling properties it allays the itching and fever of the scalp, which is the great cause of people losing their hair.

Mr. MOORE has succeeded in being able to put this wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate. [268]
